Political Edge

Politics and International Relations is about the world in which we live collectively and the ways in which it became what it is today and continues to change. It considers the choices that political actors - from governments to citizens to international institutions - make and the structures and constraints under which they make them. It examines the ways that people conceive the world as they believe it might be and the realities with which they struggle in trying to make it so. It analyses the ways in which people have tried abstractly to make sense of the political and international worlds and the political contexts in which they have done so. India has been being emerging as a powerful country in the world. India 1s going to become the fourth largest economy in the world in very near future due to its fast and stable economic growth. We think demonetization of currency and Goods and Services Tax has given some unhidden advantages to economy. The creation and absorption of black money is under control up to large extent. The abstract income and wealth unknowingly; coming out and entre in the main stream. Due to these, The Government of India is also going to get huge tax revenue in very near future.

According to Bhagvad Geeta there are always conflicts to Peace. Basically there are always conflicts between wisdom and wickedness. International relation is also based on the principle of conflict to peace. We have the great examples of First and Second World war. India had been also dragged in ware with Pakistan and China the past. All the countries of the world have their own interest. The India-Pakistan relationship since the creation of both the nations in 1947 has been rocky, where the nations have been involved in four wars. Kashmir has been the bedrock issue between both the nations and has been an unresolved boundary dispute. Terrorism, particularly targeting India which is bred on Pakistani soil is yet another major issue which has mired the relationship.

Despite many positive initiatives taken, the India-Pakistan relationship in recent times has reached an all time low with some sore issues sticking out.

India has been being growing at a rate of 7 to 8 per cent on the other hand Pakistan is lagging far behind in economic and political terms. Due to constant comparison with India, Pakistan has forgotten that, real power of any country depends on its economic soundness and political stability. India is having foreign reserves of 400 billion dollar while Pakistan is having less than 10 billion dollars in recent times. Pakistan is highly depended on foreign debt. His currency is devaluated and reached at 128 Rs per dollar. Due to terror financing Pakistan is placed in Grey list by Financial Action Task Force (FATA). As far as India is concern relations of and with USA, Russia, China and Pakistan plays important role in long term game of prosperity. India has its own multi polar foreign policy. To protect the national interest government is spending good amount of money on defiance. India has acquired qualitative weapons from various countries of the world as well as developed the range of missiles.
